Since 2008, Schenectady Greenmarket has stitched together farm and city while celebrating local food.

Friends and neighbors come weekly to see, taste and purchase the bounty grown by local farmers and crafted by local artisans. Together, we have created a year-round marketplace for farmers to sell directly to customers, enabling them to grow and prosper. When local farms thrive, our surrounding fields and pastures remain open, green and productive.

As we enter our eighth winter season more than half a million customers have come to Schenectady on Sundays, invigorating downtown and creating a buzz of excitement for local businesses.

Schenectady Greenmarket is a 501(c)3 nonprofit run by a board of volunteers that are committed to our community.

Visit our website or facebook page for weekly updates and information about vendors, music, special events, parking and more.
